

Pieces for Conversation

Blok & Carina show their site specific installation “Pieces for Conversation” at the Dutch Pavilion, Masterly - The Dutch in Milano.

This is the moment...

There will be no talking, no touching, no overt communication of any kind. The objective is to achieve a luminous state of being and then transmit it— to engage in what she calls “an energy dialogue” with the audience.

Quote

Marina Abramovic - performance at the MOMA New York.

An atrium of light and an audience is all we need to show our true emotions, fears, horrors and love. When we looked at our ridiculous world today, we were inspired for the installation “Pieces for Conversation” to create a magical sacred space for you and me, to look at each other and give one another a piece of our minds.

As a metaphor Carina uses the table as the starting point for this dialogue, as objects to share our stories, our thoughts and our love and respect for one another. We cannot wait any longer, this is the moment.

